

You've given the gift of
PEACE^{OF}MIND

That's an amazing start. Here's how to finish the job.

Begin sharing your health care wishes with your health care agent.

Share your answers to these two questions with your health care agent

1. If I could control one thing about the place where I spend my last hours of life, it would be... (e.g., being in my home, being surrounded by those I love)
2. Life wouldn't be worth living if I couldn't... (e.g., work in my garden, speak to my grandkids)

You can always talk more and update your wishes later. But sharing answers to these two questions today lays the foundation. If your loved one needed to speak for you tomorrow, they'd know what you value today.
